CONFERENCE OVERVIEW

This conference will provide participants with the knowledge of practice updates and relevant research in pediatric hematology/oncology nursing. Presentations will include evidence based practice regarding genetics in childhood cancer, monoclonal antibodies, family support during bone marrow transplant, compassion fatigue, and professional boundaries in the social media age.

CONFERENCE GOAL

To enhance the knowledge of the nurse caring for the child and adolescent with cancer or blood disorder.

CONFERENCE GOAL

This activity has been submitted to the Oncology Nursing Society for approval to award contact hours. ONS is accredited as an approver for continuing nursing education by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's COA.

Participants will have to attend the entire activity that will be verified by using sign in sheets. They will also have to turn in an evaluation form that includes a rating scale of self-reported achievement of each objective before receiving certificate of successful completion.
